Subject: One-Time Monetary Adjustment Related to September 25, 2026 MLB Scheduling Issues

QCX LLC d/b/a Polymarket US is issuing this notice regarding a one-time monetary adjustment related to trading in contracts on the September 25, 2026 Baltimore Orioles–New York Yankees baseball game played at 4:05 PM ET (Game 1 of the doubleheader) containing the instrument identifier mlb-bal-nyy-2026-09-25 (the "Contracts").

In advance of the series, MLB provided conflicting information regarding the scheduling of the two games. Trading remained available throughout, and settlement was correct and consistent with MLB's final official schedule. All trades and settlements stand.

Following a review, Polymarket US is providing a one-time company-funded monetary adjustment to eligible participants pursuant to Polymarket US' Rules. This one-time adjustment is specific to the unique facts and circumstances of the events surrounding the September 25, 2026 Contracts.

Eligibility

The adjustment applies to maker fills, meaning the resting order on an order book fill or the quoter on a combo fill, in Contracts and combos with at least one leg being a Contract, executed between 4:42 PM and 4:58 PM ET on September 25, 2026. Taker fills are not eligible.

A fill in a Contract is eligible if it was executed 5¢ or more from the Contract's trailing 10-minute volume-weighted average price in the counterparty's favor and resulted in a realized loss at final settlement. A combo fill is eligible if the combo's reference fair value at the time of the fill, as determined from Polymarket US records, exceeded the maker's sell price by 5¢ or more.

Adjustment Methodology

Each eligible participant will receive a one-time adjustment equal to their net realized loss at settlement across their eligible fills, as determined from Polymarket US records. Adjustments are calculated once per eligible participant and will not exceed the participant's gross realized loss on eligible fills. No adjustment is made where a participant's net realized result across eligible fills is a gain.

No Impact to Trades or Market Resolution

The adjustments do not modify market settlement, contract terms, final market resolution, trade prices, or any cleared position. Adjustments are made at the sole discretion of Polymarket US and are not an admission of liability.

Questions

No action is required by eligible participants. A participant who believes they meet the criteria above but has not been contacted may submit a request with supporting records to support@polymarket.us by October 16, 2026. Questions may be directed to support@polymarket.us.
